The need for positive mineral ions such as calcium. Freshwater or marine aquariums. Researched article from fish keeping guru Carl Strohmeyer pH of Acids and Bases ; It is clear from the above discussion that nature of the solution (acidic, alkaline or neutral) can be represented in terms of either hydrogen ion concentration or hydroxyl ion concentration but it is convenient to express acidity or alkalinity of a solution by referring to the concentration of hydrogen ions only. pH measurement is done using pH paper and pH meter
